Key Accounts

FSC Argentina

FSC began to register certifications in Argentina in 2001. Since then, more than 580,000 hectares have already been certified, representing around 25% to 30% of the country's forest plantations and including protected areas (almost 190,000 hectares).

In 2010, the Civil Association Council for Responsible Forest Management was created to promote FSC activities, which was recognized as the FSC Argentina National Office in 2018, whose Director is Esteban Carabelli.

Among the main milestones of the FSC Argentina National Office, the development of the FSC National Forest Management Standard (2015 – current) by the Standard Development Group stands out. On the other hand, the expansion of the office's internal team allowed the development of networks and a website, offering training and holding the event 'The Forest in your Hands' to establish and strengthen links with interested parties.
